The organization is located on a 629-acre campus and provides direct resources to approximately 140 residents at any given time. Residents have access to a variety of community supports, including professional case management services, on-site childcare, life skills training, tutoring and other educational services, as well as recreational and community service opportunities. In addition, the organization offers a free telephone Helpline service, which provides information and support to struggling families across the country and serves as the first step to living at the National Home.

Wounded Warrior Project

www.woundedwarriorproject.org

1-877-832-6997 (Toll Free)

Wounded Warrior Project™ (WWP) exists to honor and empower Wounded Warriors who incur service-connected wounds, injuries, and illnesses on or after September 11, 2001. The Backpack Program provides comfort items in male and female versions as the severely wounded arrive at military trauma centers in the United States. A compact version is provided in Iraq and Afghanistan. WWP benefits counselors identify government benefits and services for patients in their communities and to re-enter civilian life. The Wounded Warrior Disabled Sports Project offers snow skiing, water skiing, canoeing, golf, cycling, and rock climbing to injured service members and their families, helping develop a positive self-image and outlook and combat depression and alienation. WWP Outdoors allows veterans to be outdoors and active while hunting, fishing, shooting, camping, and boating, so they build friendships and have a feeling of empowerment in their healing process. Warriors to Work finds occupational direction and possible employment based on injured service members' skill sets, interests, and employment opportunities. With outside groups, WWP develops tools for disabled applicants and employers. Two-day "Coping with Combat Stress" seminars help disabled and able-bodied service members deal with the effects of combat stress while reintegrating into civilian life. The Wounded Warrior Service Excellence Scholar Program offers severely injured Veterans a stipend for living expenses during college while helping other injured service members.
