

The Montgomery County Police Animal Services Division Reminds Pet Owners to Be Safe During the Summer; Tethering, Leaving Pets in Vehicles, Can Have Deadly Repercussions and It's Against the Law

Montgomery County summers always include multiple days when temperatures soar, there's increased humidity, thunderstorms, and high heat index values. When there is high humidity during the day, that also means that temperatures will be slow to cool at night. The Montgomery County Animal Services and Adoption Center (MCASAC) reminds pet owners that this time of year presents several hazards to pets and that pet owners should be especially vigilant during summer months.

Tethering

During times of extreme weather, including high temperatures, the Director of the Montgomery County Police Animal Services Division, Thomas Koenig, can enforce Executive Regulation 10-10AM, Anti-Cruelty Conditions for Dogs, Section 11-D, which states, "A person must not tether a dog under circumstances that endanger its health, safety, or well-being, including: unattended tethering of a dog during a weather emergency." This law was enacted by the Montgomery County Council in June of 2002. This regulation will be enforced as long as and/or whenever, the Weather Service issues an Excessive Heat Warning. At all times, owners are required to provide outdoor (non-tethered) dogs with proper shelter and protection from the elements.

Pets in Vehicles

Temperatures this year have already risen to record levels. Pets left unattended in vehicles are particularly vulnerable to heat-related injuries. On an 85-degree day, the temperature inside a vehicle can reach 102 degrees within 10 minutes, even with the windows cracked. If the vehicle is parked in direct sunlight, the temperature inside may rise up to 40 degrees an hour. Pets are in danger of heat-stroke at 110 degrees. Dogs, frequently left unattended in vehicles, can suffer brain and organ damage after just 15 minutes.

Under Chapter 5, 201(a) (13), pet owners can be issued a civil citation with a penalty of $500 for leaving an animal unattended in a motor vehicle. In addition, pet owners may also face the possibility that their pet could be removed from the vehicle and the owner charged criminally with animal cruelty under the Maryland Criminal Law 10-604.

Heat Exhaustion

Heat exhaustion can be dangerous, even fatal, for pets. In many cases it can be prevented by keeping them indoors, in shaded areas, providing them with plenty of water, etc. Heat exhaustion can quickly progress into heat stroke which can be fatal; therefore it is important for pet owners to know the symptoms (which are similar for both dogs and cats):

- Restlessness
- Panting
- Increased respiratory rate
- Increased heart rate
- Excess salivation
- Vomiting
- Diarrhea

Thunderstorms

Animals may become extremely frightened during a thunderstorm and can escape an enclosure, such as a fenced yard. Pet owners should take animals inside during violent wind and rain storms. Pet owners should also keep the necessary identification on their pets' collars for situations when they may become separated. Montgomery County Executive Regulation 05-01 requires pet owners bring their pets indoors or provide shelter to protect them from the elements.

Anyone that is concerned that an animal is in immediate danger should call 9-1-1. To have an Animal Services Officer Dispatched in a non-emergency situation, patrons can call 301-279-8000.
