

As co-publisher of PLENTY Magazine, which focuses on telling stories all about MOCO's Agricultural Reserve, I find ZTA 23-09 to be ill-conceived and lacking in fundamental cause and affect future thinking. It is antithetical to the foundational vision and implementation of our nation's model for farmland preservation that we are known for. Grabbing precious farmland soils with no accounting for the damage done to our future food sources is myopic and disastrous. ZTA 23-09 needs to wither and die. And the many voices of concern—those who live and work in the Ag Reserve—against it, need to be heard and respected.

Thank you for listening,

Wib Middleton
