SUBJECT: EMS Operations Blog

In an effort to improve communications, the EMS Section has developed an EMS Operations Blog.

The blog is not intended to supplant MCFRS Policies, FCGOs, or the Maryland Medical Protocols but is intended to provide MCFRS EMS providers with a rapid and ready source of information about changes in medication availability, best practices, QI measures & other topics of interest.

Although emails are a rapid and efficient way of sending messages, they are not an efficient way to store and display information.

It is anticipated that the blog will improve upon these limitations as it is searchable, RSS ready and viewable on mobile devices.

The blog is located at www.mcemsops.blogspot.com .
